Thornton Wins Verdict In Huge Damage Action

Placer Superior Court Jury Deliberates 8 Hours On Decision

After deliberating eight hours a superior court jury in the Placer County court at Auburn last Friday returned a verdict favoring Melvin Thorton, Thornton's Garage and Charles Olano in the $550,000 damage suit resulting from a tow truck and automobile collision last January 10 in which Herman Jacobs of Sacramento was killed.

It was understood that the firs ballot was eight to four in favor of not allowing damages to Mrs. Kate G. Jacobs, the widow and her daughter, Hermie, the final count being nine to three favoring Thornton.

Evidence tended to prove that the car driven by Jacobs, prominent Sacramento meat company official, skidded on the slippery highway into the path of the tow truck, driven by Olano, during a heavy snow storm.

Judge Lowell Sparks presided at the trial and the defendants were represented by Attorney Al Broyer of Auburn and Attorney W. E. Sedgwick of San Francisco.

NEW SPAN READY FOR CHRISTMAS IF ALL GOES WELL

Work is progressing on the new two-lane bridge crossing the Truckee River on the Truckee-Brockway cutoff, Supervisor H. G. Loehr reports, and under present plans should be completed before Christmas. Unexpected delays may make this impossible, and in the mean time a new deck has been installed on the Crandall Brothers Bridge, a quarter of a mile west, so that it provides a safer crossing during construction of the new span.

The new bridge is being installed by Ted Schwartz of Grass Valley, who has a crew of men engaged in building and preparing for the prefabricated span which will arrive from the Moore Dry Dock at Oakland.

The old bridge was destroyed last summer when a truck and trailer hauling a huge caterpillar to a forest fire attempted the crossing.

WRECKED CAR'S OWNER IS FOUND IN AUBURN JAIL

The highway patrol yesterday learned that David Collett, Penryn, whose car was found crashed into a tree on the Truckee-Brockway cutoff a short distance from Truckee on November 17, is being held at Auburn on a charge of defraud ing a Quincy innkeeper.

Patrolmen were puzzled when the abandoned car, badly wrecked and with evidence of some one having been injured, was found demolished. The investigation led to the fact that the owner was wanted on the Plumas County complaint and he was subsequently arrested at Auburn, the patrol reported.

Big Tahoe Tract Offered In Lease By Nevada Dist.

A half-million dollar 64-acres plot of ground at Lake Tahoe was made available to the public for 10-year lease by the Truckee-Carson Irrigation District yesterday.

In an announcement the TCID stated that bids would be accepted at the district's Fallon office until two o'clock January 2, 1952, for the valuable tract, which adjoins the Tahoe Tavern property a short distance from Tahoe City.

The ground is at the Lake Tahoe outlet of the Truckee River. It includes several thousand feet of river frontage on both sides of the steam adjacent to the highway bridge at the river outlet, as well as over 500 feet of lake frontage to the south of Tahoe Tavern.

Bids will be accepted for the entire parcel only and must be accompanied by a payment in full of the amount specified therein as the cash rental charge for the first calendar year, or a check of $1,000 if an alternative first year rental is proposed.

Persons interested were urged to write the district at Fallon immediately to procure notice of availability, lease form and map, for which there is no change.

The notice of availability states that "each proposal must be accompanied by an exhibit which will clearly indicate in detail the contemplated plan of development and utilization of the entire tract by showing in an appropriate manner what area are to be set aside and improved for different uses, such as for residential, commercial, hotel, motel, parking and street purposes, and by includinv a schedule of the order and time for the completion of such developments and improvements . . . The lessee will be permitted to sublease parcels of the above described land, subject to the approval of the district."

The district's lease of the 64-acre tract was recently approved by the U. S. bureau of reclamation after several months of negotiations.

The area in part lies on the north bank behind and to the west of the golf course at Tahoe City, although the major portion lies on the opposite bank of the Truckee. Value of the land has been estimated "as is" by the district at from $300,000 to $500,000. —from the Fallon (Nev.) Standard

Cutter Races In Area Offered By Wyoming Group

Would Bring In 15 Teams Of Thoroghbreds for 3 Days Meet

The Truckee Chamber of Commerce has been offered the opportunity of sponsoring cutter races, featuring world champion thoroughbred horses.

Gibb Scott, prominent rancher and horseman from Jackson, Wyoming, was here last week to discuss the proposal but with only limited time, he left without contacting chamber officials.

Scott explained the potentialities of cutter races and explained methods of handling them. He said it would be possible to bring 15 teams here for the three-day races at a cost of $300 per team, with the owners paying all expenses. He pointed out the success of the races in other winter sports centers and was pleased with the prospects presented here.

Scott, a veteran racer himself, said he would contact chamber officials later to present a detailed plan in case the local organization was interested. As an alternate proposal, he said the association of cutter racers would contract with the chamber to finance the races over a period of ten years with exclusive rights and would retain all profits for themselves, the chamber serving only as a booster department.

The Wyoming man proposed a number of sidelines which could be developed during the three day program of races, with ski meets, ski-joring, snow carnivals and other features being prepared to be highlighted by the thoroughbreds on a quarter mile track.

THE CHRISTMAS SEAL—symbol of America's protest against tuberculosis! Christmas Seals turn dollars into weapons against tuberculosis. Christmas Seals help by education. Your tuberculosis association teaches the people that TB is catching and that TB can be cured. Your money is spent to stimulate the provision of x-ray facilities, chest clinics, TB hospital beds, rehabilitation facilities and other weapons in the fight against TB. Your money is spent for medical research too. Some day your dollars may help to find the medicine that will wipe out TB. Even today, without the medicine, TB usually can be cured if it found early enough. We must work together to find tuberculosis, to treat it, to conquer it. In America, we are free to work together for the goals we select as important. Christmas Seals are a part of freedom's way to health. FIRST CANDIDATE ANNOUNCES INTENT FOR COUNTY JOB

Jack Furneaux, owner and operator of the Sierra Truck and Motor Company of Grass Valley, has announced his intention of seeking the office of supervisor for the Second Nevada County District, an office now held by Frank Rowe of Grass Valley.

Furneaux is the first to declare himself as an office seeker for the supervisorial position which will be settled next year.

The candidate is a native of Yuba County and son of a supervisor in that county. He was a student at the San Francisco State College and majored in engineering and for some time was an executive with the Standard Oil Company. He is trained in all the requirements for a supervisor and has a wide field of friends and associates who will welcome his entry into county politics.

The candidate has been studying the possibilities of seeking the office for some months and his decision was not on the spur of the moment. He said he feels that he is fully qualified and able to fill the duties required.

Furneaux has many friends in the Truckee area, where he often visits.

JAIL FACILITIES FOR WOMEN AND MINORS HELD DISGRACEFUL

NEVADA CITY—Superior Court Judge James Snell Tuesday night described the county jail's accommodations for women and juvenile offenders as "the worst in California."

His criticism came during a question and answer period conducted by Roy Votaw of Sacramento, state juvenile protective officer, who spoke before the social studies section of the American Association of University Women.

During a discussion of possible need for a detention home for Nevada County, Judge Snell said: "Nevada County is not unique among the counties of California in not having a detention home but is unique in having the worst jail accommodations in the state for juveniles and women."

He invited the six school officials and 50 townspeople at the meeting to inspect tse jail, which he described as disgraceful.

Taking part in the meeting were Thomas Barrett, county probation officer; Mayor Thomas Taylor of Nevada City; William Wilson, Grass Valley school superintendent, and Edward A. Frantz, Nevada City school superintendent and high school principal.

Votaw said juvenile delinquency which showed a steady increase since the war years, has leveled off and no recent gain is indicated despite a growing population.

Snow Leaves As Warm Weather Follows Storm

Precipitation Triple Normal But Well Below '50 Flood Period

The warmer weather and rain showers during the past week have played havoc with the 39-inch snow pack reported a week ago and the forest service yesterday reported only a foot remains in the Truckee area.

The storm has added some snow to the pack at Donner Summit and yesterday more than five feet was recorded, promising well for the weekend skiing activities.

Precipitation for the past week, according to the forest service at Truckee, was .46 of an inch, bringing the season's total to 9.47 inches, or nearly six inches over the normal of 3.78 inches for this date.

Last year 17.64 inches had been recorded on this date, much of the fall resulting from the torrential five-day rain storm.

The chain control was effective over Donner Pass for brief periods Monday and Tuesday but there was no delay in travel as a result of the flurries of snow and rain mixed.

From there, she flew to New Orleans, Havana and Kingston, Jamaica. On this leg of the journey she was accompanied by her daughter-in-law. From Kingston, Mrs. Polyanich went to Caracas, Venezuela, thence to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Reno, returning to Truckee last weekend.

In all, the traveler covered nearly 22,000 miles and rode with four different major airlines on her trip.

EAST SLOPE SPLIT FROM CALIFORNIA PROPOSED AGAIN

SACRAMENTO— Assemblyman Don Crawford, representing the isolated Vya district in the Nevada state legislature, has written to Secretary of State Frank Jordan for information on how to go about effecting the transfer of portions of nine California counties to Nevada.

Crawford thought it might be accomplished through a plebiscite of the people living in the territory between "the present arbitrary California-Nevada state line and the summit (of the Sierra) where the waters divide and run to the Pacific Ocean."

He thinks the line should be moved westward to take in parts of Modoc, Lassen, Plumas, Sierra, Nevada, Placer, El Dorado, Alpine and Mono counties in California.

The Nevadan appeared to be lonely, out in northwestern Nevada. He said in his letter:

"My ranch (near Cedarville, Modoc County, Calif.) is so far isolated from any town in Nevada that most of my contacts with the outside world are with California border towns."

Jordan replied, in effect, that all he had to do is either get 303,687 to qualify an initiative measure on the ballot or 189,805 for a petition for a legislative initiative. Then it would be up to the voters or the legislature of California.

Crawford contends he is "constantly beseiged by residents of this disputed area to exert myself to get the state line put back where it was in 1861."

Nevada was not admitted to the Union until 1864, following California by 14 years.

He said Nevada's legislature has repeatedly signified willingness to take in the California territory.

The Nevadan said: "It should be put to a vote of the people to be affected."

Passengers On Bus Escape As Vehicles Crash

Giants of the Highways Collide on Tuesday East of Town

Six passengers and the driver of an eastbound Burlington bus escaped injuries Tuesday morning at 5:30 o'clock when the bus crashed into an overturned Lang tank truck and trailer just west of the quarantine station, four miles east of here.

State Patrolmen Roy Stallard Martin Sturcke, who made the investigation, said the tanker operated by Francis Eaton, 23, San Francisco, apparently skidded on the wet pavement and overturned on the roadway.

A few moments later, the Burlington came around the curve and crashed into the truck. The passengers were shaken but none was injured, the officers were advised. The bus driver, Harold Nelson Roger, 34, told the officers he could not avoid the collision as the truck loomed in front of him, blocking the road. The truck driver was preparing to set out flares but had not had sufficient time.

The passengers included Charlotte Stevens and Bernice Stevens of Elko, Nev.; James O'Hara of Denver; Charles Rampley of Missouri; Paul Miller, Kentucky, and Byron Wyman of Hawthorne, Nevada.

B. White.....Oscar Schumacher shoveling the snow off the canopy in front of the Masonic Temple..... A casualty to Truckee solidified fog (it never shows in California) was a canopy in front of Coca-Cola warehouse No. 3.....on West Main opposite Harry's Texaco Service..... SUMMIT SCENE

by FRAN COUILLARD

Mouths tilted earward were worn by all hotel, inn, ski tow and business operators in general, for four feet of snow, solidified by sub-zero weather, made a ski pack as good as that usually hoped for in February, so the experts tell me.

The hills swarmed with terrain termites and all localites were pressed into service as operators greeted Thanksgiving guests who partook of the first good early skiing in years. Dormitories were used and a good six weeks start on a winter business over former years is foreseen. Public address systems blared over the ski runs and altogether Thanksgiving was really a day of "thank yous" by ye mountain landowners. As we write, the temperature rises and while the taste of what is to come still lingers in the mouths of the operators, they keep their fingers crossed and silently pray that a recurrance of last year's deluge, cause from rising temperatures, does not again melt their hill of dreams.

Nearly fell off the stool at Beacon Hill Lodge as guests dove off the snow banks into the heated, steaming swimming pool. On checking their registration list, was amazed that but one was a bay area Californian. Guests from Puerto Rico, Michigan, New York, San Diego, and so forth took a look at the frosting on the hills and stopped to enjoy excellent ski runs. Soda Springs Hotel on Saturday night was about as crowded as it will get in the peak of the season and an atmosphere of gaiety prevaded the whole hill. Had a cocktail with Connie Euer at the latter place, Connie having journeyed hillward with a friend to enjoy the first snow and take her first view of the hotel since its remodeling. Connie, now a working gal in Sacramento, had but the weekend to enjoy herself in her old habitat and wished us to take this medium to tell all her friends "hello."

Bud and Betty Horak of Donner Summit Lodge traveled Sacramentoward for Thanksgiving dinner with their family. We arrived home from San Francisco and Sacramento on Thanksgiving day to partake of a portion of the royal bird at Donner Summit Lodge with Jess and Roy Thompson. Margot Nordstrom cooked the traditional dinner in her own oven for her big little family while Bud and Barbara Zorich feasted at Soda Springs Hotel with Brant and Doris Chaplin. Eleanor and John Johansen dined in their own dining room with guests, while Wanda and Virg Misener and Milton and Helen Hogle put their feet under a local hotel table, all four simply too tired to tackle a dinner at home what with the unexpected rush on Thanksgiving that kept them chained to the Snowflake Coffee Shop and the operation of the double chair lift. Jeannie Moriano stuffed a wild goose in traditional Texas style (using a portion of corn bread) and had seven mountaineers at her groaning board.

Bill Rutherford, snowed in at Ice Lakes, fed those marooned in his hideaway. Eula Sheritt, home from New York, cooked a turkey at the Sheritt ranch near Wheatland for just herself and James. The Bueks stuffed themselves in their octogan shaped menage, taking this chance of all being together as they prepare son Dick for his 1952 Winter Olympics trip to Norway shortly.

Parley Merrell, who recently left the Central Snow Lab for a valley job with the engineers and then was shipped back into this area, took a flyer into Sacramento to have dinner with Margaret and the kids, David, Denise and Duffy.

Get a bang out of Tommy Vicencio of Cisco Grove who operates the Sierra Gift and Ski Shop with his wife, Betty. Tom talks of his "coast to coast" chain of stores as thou he means it, and busily gets ready for a booming ski shop business. Also Bud and Barbara Zorich The latter duo, as can be plainly seen, operate in the cute little chalet built for them by the Chaplins next door to the Soda Springs Hotel. Virgil Jones builds a ski shop on the very ski run's edge and Elmo Moriano's ski shop was doing a booming business, for all he had to do was open up his store room and outfit his ski shop from last year's surplus.

At the top of the hill, Pat and Jack Woodard remained closed for the first good snow as they busily get ready for a grand reopening come Saturday night (Dec. 1) when their seasonal license permits them to reopen the bar. Everything else opens up too—ski tows, new dormitories, ski shop and the works. When the whislte blows next Saturday morn, the Ranch goes into its big operation. We'll wager Pat thought up the cute announcements for said opening which read "GUILTY! You have been adjudged and duly found guilty of having knowledge of the whereabouts of Donner Ski Ranch and you are hereby sentenced to an evening of fun at the Ranch. On but not before Saturday evening, December 1." Signed Warden Woodard, with the postscript: "I you feel like a jailbird, come dressed as one."

Edvi Aro please note! Edvi and Betty, dining at home on Thanksgiving, were painfully interrupted as Edvi was arrested and taken into town for forgery. Edvi, who lost his wallet last year at the Squaw Valley ski instructors meet, was the victim of said forger who not only used his identification but also stolen Squaw Valley checks for his illegal project. The warrant for Edvi came out of Santa Barbara, where he has never been. We mountaineers rally 'round the boy whose good right hand has been in a sling for the past 16 months and who, therefore, needs must use his left hand for signing purposes. Edvi alternately laughs and curses as he tells about his memorable Thanksgiving. We, with Edvi, say, "Tain't funny."

Wynn Killian comes back to the mountain for winter employment so that he can get in training for the Donner Trail Cross Country Race, which is already being talked about and already has its first trainees grinding away for the event, still 3½ months off.

Received a welcome Thanksgiving letter from Earl and Roy Beckwith. They are now living in Nevada City and are parked behind the Gold Nugget, between Grass Valley and Nevada City, in their de luxe trailer home. Roy tells us she is taking it easy at present, resting up for surgery in the near future. They tell their friends to drop in and see them.

The mountain continues to be entertained by excellent organist and pianist Ray Downey at the Soda Springs Hotel. Never knew we had so much talent amongst the employees on the hill for it isn't infrequent that one of the latter sits on the piano stool and pounds out a duet with Ray at the organ. Donner Summit Lodge's entertainers are Herman and Edwin Giezendanner of St. Moritz. Right, Swiss chaps. Plenty melodious what with accordian, concertina, piano and saxophone Thus far the Switzers have played to enchanted audiences Saturdays and Wednesdays.

DEER KILL, HUNTERS RISE ANNUALLY, END NOT IN SIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO— How California deer hunters have been able to increase their bag by more than 320 per cent during the last 25 years, while the ranks of hunters expanded 286 per cent, is graphically portrayed in the 1948-50 biennial report of the department of fish and game just off the presses.

When legislation requiring hunters to purchase and validate deer hunting tags went into effect in 1927, state game biologists were able to chalk up an annual kill of 19,507 bucks by 110,760 sportsmen.

In the 1951 seasons just ended, an estimated 315,000 licensed hunters accounted for a yearly bag which is expected to reach 64,000 bucks, an all-time California record. Several thousand antlerless deer, removed under special permit from critical range areas, will swell the 1951 take.

According to the figures released in the report, all-time records for annual deer kills are as common as wardens o the opening day of the hunting season. They have occurred 11 times since the tag return records were kept, in 1928, 1930, 1931, 1937 to 1940 inclusive, 1946, 1948, 1949 and 1951.

Except for the years of the deep depression, 1932 to 1936, and World War II, 1941 to 1945, the state's reported dee-r kill has been increasing an average of about 2500 bucks a year.

Perusal of the quarter-century kill record shows, however, that the individual hunter's chances of bagging a buck have improved only slightly. Twenty-five years ago, there was one buck taken for every 5.7 hunters. This year, tag returns are expected to show that, exclusive of the thousands of antlerless deer taken in special hunts, one buck was killed for every 4.9 hunters.

How long can California's annual deer kill keep climbing?

Game managers and experts of half a dozen governmental agencies believe that the maximum sustained yield has not yet been reached. If, and all hands agree that it's a big "if", intelligent management practices to protect and improve range conditions can be continued, the average California hunter can expect to bring home at least one deer every two years from 1952 until eternity.

How To Check Lubricant Level in Your Differential

Here's an easy way to check the lubricant in your differential. It works as shown in the diagram below.

The easiest way we know of keeping those spiral bevel and hypoid gears in good condition is to use RPM Multi-Service Gear Lubricant.

It keeps a tough, protective film on gear teeth. Contains an anti-foaming agent that controls leakage due to product expansion. RPM Multi-Service Gear Lubricant won't corrode metal, resists oxidation; stands up under extreme pressures.

Call us about it. We'll fill your order fast; for service is the keynote of our local business.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Fair and Square"

We've just had a political campaign with everything from a torchlight parade to a neck-and-neck ballot box race.

Rusty Robinson, with no campaign funds, planned his Election Eve speech for the Square. Slim McCormick, who owns the Palace movie house, was finishing up his campaign in Pioneer Hall.

Then it began to rain. Rusty's political career was fizzling out in the damp when Slim showed up to say that Robinson people could meet in his theatre—for nothing. "I want to beat Rusty," Slim said, "but certainly not with rain!"

From where I sit, you've got to give Slim credit for acting on his belief that everyone has a right to be heard—just as everyone has a right to his own opinions and tastes. Maybe you like hot coffee, for instance, when you "take a break." Well, my vote goes for a refreshing glass of beer. After all, we're lucky to be living in a free country where we can have our own preferences!

MEMORIES OF MOVIES: ALASKA IN TRUCKEE, SUBMARINE AT TAHOE

In its current edition, the Southern Pacific Bulletin recalls a bit of local history in its colume "On Memory Siding." The item, as condensed from the January, 1925, Bulletin, says:

"Helping to make moving pictures by finding suitable locations for the 'movie' producers has grown to be an important branch of Southern Pacific service. Along the lines of the Pacific System the movie director can find everything in the way of scenery that he is likely to need. Charlie Chaplin found a Chilcoot Pass, with Southern Pacific ministering to the needs of the large company, in the Sierra, near Summit, and Buster Keaton made some exciting submarine scenes in the still, sunlit waters of Lake Tahoe.

"The William Fox Vaudeville Company, seeking a location on which to show how the first transcontinental railroad was built, was directed by the SP first to a hill framed basin on the Nevada desert part of the Pyramid Lake Indian reservation.

"Locations on the 'hill' between Truckee and Summit were also found where the movie actors could make scenes that would show the difficulties met in the big job of building a railroad over the Sierra. Tunnels connecting with the present double tracking program were being driven in the mountains and the movie makers were able to get some very realistic tunneling 'shots.'

"The little engine 'C. P. Huntington', one of the first engines bought by the Company, was among the equipment placed at the Fox Company's disposal."

Tahoe Letter

Tahoe City
November 26

Hello folks:

Almost a quarter of a century of water went through the gates since yours truly tried writing a column for our Sierra Sun; very much out of practice. When Swanee called giving me an impressive list of phone numbers to contact just in case some important events took place whilst she was on vacation, I rashly promised to keep my ear to the ground for news vibrations—and 39 inches of snow came. If it turns too warm and rains, we'll have a heavier runoff and greater flood danger than last year, when we had 13½ inches of snow in November. For purposes of comparison, we had 36 inches in November, 1936; 16 inches in November, 1946; only two inches during the month in 1947; 6½ in November, 1946, and 19½ inches in November two seasons ago.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings daughter and puppy dog arrived at General Creek (and a solid wall of snow) at 3 a.m. last Wednesday on their way to their home at Rubicon Park to spend Thanksgiving The snow was too deep to turn around in and return, so they waited patiently for help. State crews thought they could start to open the road by 11 a.m. but heavy snow removal delayed them. Al Henry, with the big tow truck, broke through and turned the car around and the Cummings went merrily on their way back to Tahoe City.

Members of the Women's Club of Tahoe sent home made cookies, candy and fruit cake and nuts to the Veterans Hospital at Reno for Thanksgiving. They will send more at Christmas.

More than 200 guests enjoyed the Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce dinner for fun Saturday evening at Cal-Vada. Many thanks to our hosts, Joby Lewis, Max and Virginia Liepertz of Beachcombers, and Mr. and Mrs. Knubsen of Kings Beach, who kept things moving smoothly in the kitchen for a very fine evening of fun. Jack Ross was master of ceremonies. A group of folk dancers from Los Angeles, under the direction of Chuck Wilson, were joined by the Tahoe Twirlers of Kings Beach and entertained with many lively folk dances. A very fine turkey dinner with all the trimmings, good band music and many awards rounded out a very fine evening's entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon of Reno (he's general manager of Chism Ice Cream) celebrated their Silver (25th) wedding anniversary at the Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce party Saturday eve.

By the by, did you notice our Christmas tree is all aglow, thanks to Pete Vanni and Bob Stark, who keep the colored lights blinking? The Tahoe City Christmas Tree will glow each weekend until the Christmas holidays, when the lights will be on each evening.

Thanks for readin'. Know you all had a fine Thanksgiving and now for the hard work of getting our Christmas list in order. And don't forget to buy T.B. Christmas Seals.

Sincerely, RIE HENRY

JIM BAKER BREEZES TO FAST VICTORY IN TURKEY SLALOM

Jim Baker, Squaw Valley ski patrolman, powered his way through 20 gates in one minute, 2½ seconds to sweep the feathers away in the first annual Turkey Trophy at Squaw Valley Sunday. Following Baker by half a second was Don Wright of Ski Club Alpine.

Little Suzi Harman, up from the junior ranks this season to Class B, led the girls with 1:21.5 for the Bero and Tal Ski Club. Kathie Butterworth, Class C from Mills College, turned in the next best time for the ladies, 1:23.8.

With limited visability due to drifting snow, competitors anxious for Far West Ski Association points flocked to the starting gate despite the weather. A total of 76 racers hustled down the giant slalom course, set by Emile Allais.

Yves Latreille and Yvon Tache, up from southern California for the Thanksgiving holiday, foreran the first FWSA sanctioned race of the season.

Bob Potts, racing for Sacramento's Tamarack Club, out-skied half of the Class A boys, racking up a lead of almost three seconds over the next B competitor, Bob Ramsey, Reno Ski Club.

Yasi Teramoto of Parlier, Calif., took first place in Class C after being out of competition for two years. Former Class A man, Yasi retired to Class C under FWSA competition rules after an operation for a leg injury.

LIFE AND HABITS OF MALLARD DUCKS TOLD BY FEDERATION

If census takers could count every duck in North America, it is likely that they would find more Mallards than any other kind. There are tame ones on farms and wild ones living in most parts of the continent.

Wild Mallards spend their summers from Alaska to Greenland and south as far as California and Virginia. In the winter, they live in the southern half of the United States and down into Mexico and Central America.

With the change of seasons, great flocks of them take to the air. They make good time on their journeys, says the National Wildlife Federation, because they can fly up to sixty miles an hour.

While beating their strong wings, they watch for pools or lakes of fresh water where they can live and find food. In the water they get mosquito larvae, insects, snails and shell fish. Around the edges they feed on seeds and stems of plants.

Among the woods and bushes near the water, the Mallards build nests of leaves and grass, with linings of dark gray down. When her nesting place is ready, the female lays from six to thirteen large eggs. The eggs may be light greenish or gray-brown.

After she sits on them for 26 to 28 days, the eggs hatch. The baby ducklings, covered with soft yellow down, quickly learn to walk and swim. As they grow, the young birds begin to look more and more like their parents. The females are mostly brown, with marks of black. They have dull yellow bill and feet.

The males have green heads and necks, white collars, and purple-brown breasts. They are light gray underneath and darker on their backs, with a touch of blue in their wings. Their bills are yellow and their legs and feet are orange.

Mallards grow to be about 28 inches long. They weigh between 3½ and 4 pounds. The females are slightly smaller than the males According to the National Wildlife Federation, they are among our most valuable wild ducks.

Interesting information on other wildlife species can be obtained by writing to the National Wildlife Federation, Washington 10, D. C.

Boy Scouts Give Assistance To Christmas Seal Sale

AUBURN— Boy Scouts of America will perform their "good deeds" this week by distributing and setting up posters which will herald the opening of the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale, according to Scout Executive Raymond Ewan, who received the posters for Placer County Monday.

The Christmas Seal campaign is being conducted from November 19 to Christmas to raise funds to support its 1952 tuberculosis prevention and control program.

Like the Christmas Seal, the posters feature the chubby, cheerful face of Santa Claus against a green-blue background. Shown on Christmas Seals and posters also the red double-barred cross insignia of the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliates

NORTH TAHOE

by THELMA BURROUGHS

Our Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with Cal-Vada Lodge and Max and Virginia Liepertz, can well be proud of last Saturday ight's dinner party. With Cal-Vada's dining room filled to capacity, the dinner was beautifully served by six very efficeint young ladies, among whom I recognized Dorothy Sipes and Margaret Recorden. That excellent food was prepared by Max and Virginia, with some local help. These two Beachcombers are to be congratulated for their very fine perforamnce. In addition to the donation of their time and labor, they also contributed five of the turkeys. Joey Lewis of Cal-Vada contributed five and Mitchell Meat of Sacramento the other ten. Chism Ice Cream Co. of Reno furnished the dessert. Durwood Ford of Sunny Acres was responsible for the dairy products; Reno Towel and Linen Supply furnished table linen; Sunbeam the bread. Merchants and businessmen from all around the lake also contributed to the success of the evening.

In addition to a very good orchestra, a group of folk dancers from Los Angeles, furnishing their own recorded music, did several dances for an appreciative audience. This group, although a young club, counts up to about 100, according to President Chuck Wilson. The score who came to Tahoe really know their dancing and do it well. Between their skiing at Squaw Valley and dancing at Cal-Vada, they were kept busy and happy while at Tahoe.

The chamber's next party will be on Saturday night, December 15, in the form of a box social, followed by both old and modern dancing, sponsored this time by the "auxiliary". The place is as yet unannounced. Each lady is to bring a box, filled with sufficient food for two and nicely wrapped. Be sure to include your name on a little card inside. Be sure, too, that your husband or boy friend takes along enough cash to do some bidding as each box is to be auctioned off to the highest bidder. Open to the public, this should be a fine get together.

Rare Minerals Mining In East of State

Mining of 14 rare minerals is underway on a large tract of land in eastern California near the Nevada border, the Mining and Industrial News reported in San Francisco this week.

A large tonnage of ore is being developed by the Molybdenum Corporation of New York City. Exploration and drilling have been under way for some time.

Described as the world's largest deposit of rare minerals, measuring roughly 3 by 1½ miles, the properties contain among scarce materials, commercial quantities of cerium, lanthanum, ittrium, gadolinium, sarmarium and neodymium which are used as dioxiding agents in the production of stainless steel and make possible the production of denser steels.

STATE TO AUCTION UNCLAIMED ESTATES IN CAPITAL CITY

SACRAMENTO —(C. N. S.)— Everything from watches to pocket knives and a peach pit carved into a basket will be on sale by the state of California December 6 and 7, State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel announced yesterday.

Not that the state is in the pawn shop business but it will get rid of the accumulation of years from unclaimed estates, which date back to 1871.

The auction will be held in Room 102 of the Business and Professional Building, 10th and N Streets, Sacramento, unless the customers come in such droves it is necessary to move to larger quarters, Kuchel said.

The state acquired the property in 1890 and subsequently and it has been stored with State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson. A $100 Confederate bill is among the souvenirs.

Already the state has acquired $1700 from the accumulation by selling the old gold direct to the mint, Kuchel said.

Probably the most interesting estate was that of Mee Ye, reputedly a rather early day character whose penchant for gold ornaments, coins, bracelets and decorations netted the state most of the $1700. Her effects were brought to Sacramento from San Joaquin County more than 20 years ago. All that's left for the state to sell, after the mint went over the property, are a couple of diamond rings and a watch.

Eighty-four watches, twenty of which are good, a half dozen good diamonds and some miscellaneous material make up the accumulation.

Dope Suspect Linked to Defunct Tahoe Resort

SAN FRANCISCO— State Narcotic Agents Louis T. Noel and Clyde Carpenter said that Harry F. Brody and his wife, Juanita, were arrested Monday in the home of relatives and are being held on narcotics charges.

Brody is described as the owner of a Reno gambling house.

The agents said Brody told the he was a builder and part owner of the Tahoe Biltmore Hotel at Crystal Bay, Lake Tahoe. The swank resort went bankrupt after two seasons and is now up for sale to satisfy claims by the RFC.

Brody was booked on a charge of suspicion of narcotics. His wife was booked for suspicion of possession of barbiturates, possession of a hypodermic needle and as a vagrant addict.

The agents said Brody was released last July from the McNeil Island federal penitentiary, where he served a term for possession of narcotics.

Counties Will Welcome Crack Down on Chiselers

SACRAMENTO —(C. N. S.)— The County Supervisors Association of California "welcomes with open arms" the drive by the state department of social welfare to crack down on relief chiselers.

This announcement was made yesterday by W. M. Sell Jr., chairman of the association's relief committee, who said that if the drive announced by Charles I. Schottland, state welfare director, is carried out, it will be of material assistance to the counties.

"We need all the help we can get from the state in keeping chiselers off the relief rolls," Sell declared.

PLACER COUNTY TO ISSUE BOOK MARKS TO BOOST T.B. SEALS

AUBURN— Beginning this week Christmas Seal book marks will be distributed in public libraries throughout Placer County, according to Mrs. Bette Gould, president of the Placer County Tuberculosis Association, which will conduct the county's 1951 Christmas Seal sale.

While of practical use, the book marks will remind readers to buy and use Christmas Seals which went on sale November 19 to raise funds for the tuberculosis prevention and control program of the tuberculosis association during 1952. The 1951 campaign in the county, part of the 45th annual Christmas Seal sale conducted throughout the nation, will continue until December 25.

The green and red book marks will be inserted in outgoing books in county schools as well as in public libraries and lending libraries.

The front of the book mark bears the message "Christmas Seals are symbols of health—Use them on holiday mail and packages." On the back is a list of recommended books on tuberculosis.

WHILE ON RECONNAISSANCE, TARZAN DISCOVERED A WHITE WOMAN PRISONER IN THE TEMPLE OF THE PANTHER MEN -- AND, PARTICIPATING IN THEIR RITUAL WAS SOBU, THE WITCH DOCTOR!

BUT TARZAN FELT NO COMPASSION FOR THE WHITE SHE. MORE CONCERNED ABOUT SOBU AND WAR PLANS, HE SWIFTLY REJOINED MATO AND THE KEMBAS. "THEY ARE UPSTREAM AT THE SACRIFICIAL TEMPLE," HE EXPLAINED. "WE WILL FIGHT WHEN THEY RETURN FROM THEIR CEREMONIES."

SWIFTLY, SILENTLY, THE WARRIORS DISPERSED ALONG THE RIVER BANK NEAR THE PANTHER MEN'S VILLAGE. AND SOON, THE FIRST CANOE ROUNDED THE BEND!

THE KEMBAS WAITED TENSELY UNTIL THE LAST BOAT HAD BEEN BEACHED. THEN, AT AN EAGER COMMAND FROM MATO, AMBUSHED THEIR ENEMIES!
